

From engineering to business administration and everything in between, AESSEAL stands out as one of the UK's leading apprenticeship providers, offering a wide range of opportunities designed to support and accelerate career development.

Recently, Year 10 students who participated in an AESSEAL-led workshop were invited to tour the company's impressive facilities. During the visit, students were split into two groups and delivered 10-minute PowerPoint presentations covering key aspects of the company – including its history, achievements, community involvement, recent projects, and reasons why AESSEAL could be a compelling career choice.

The visit included an engaging and informative factory tour, giving students a firsthand look at AESSEAL's operations. This experience not only deepened their understanding of potential career paths but also highlighted the valuable opportunities that apprenticeships can offer.

- 71% of students agreed the trip inspired them to apply for an apprenticeship.
